Issue 3– 24th September 2021

A Note from Mr Stoyles

Another week has flown by with the children engaging enthusiastically in their ongoing learning while we continue to be very proud of all their efforts.

We are excited to announce our first off-site topic themed trips for the children in KS2 with the letters being sent out on Monday. Blaise class will be visiting Flambards (Helston) to explore the Britain in the Blitz Museum on 20.10.21 while Ladoca will travel to Kresen Kernow for a behind-the-scenes tour of the Kernow Archive Centre on 11.10.21.

We are excited to now be back in Ladock church! The children gather each Tuesday for a Collective Worship with Mrs Stevenson and on Fridays we celebrate our 'stars of the week' and 'special mentions.' If your child has received an award, you will receive a text message on Thursday letting you know and inviting you to join us at 8:50am. Next Friday will be our Harvest Festival starting in the church at 9:00am, where you are more than welcome to attend.

I hope that you have a good weekend.

You can submit your application, with the help of your parents through ClassDojo, or return the form to your class teacher. We will be looking at your applications in our staff meeting next Wednesday 29th September so please have them handed in by then.

You must be thinking what responsibilities you will have if you become an ambassador! Your role will include:

- Promoting reading throughout the school
- Responsibility of the upkeep of the school library
- Deciding which books we should choose from the library van
- An annual visit to a bookshop
- KS2 ambassadors will have opportunities to read stories to Cuby and Keyne class
- Judging our class reading zones based on: attractiveness, comfort, choice of books and organisation
- A termly meeting with Mr Stoyles to feedback thoughts and ideas.

To make everyone aware that you are an ambassador, you will also be presented with your very own badge. If you are interested, please see the following pages for the application details. It is your choice whether you wish to complete form 1 or form 2.

Best Wishes,

Mr Stoyles

READING

You know that learning to love books and reading is one of the most important gifts you can give your children. Here are some top tips to help you and your child get the most out of sharing books and develop their love of reading.

1. Be a reading role model.

Make sure you read yourself and that your child sees you reading. It doesn't need to be a novel and it might not be a book BUT you need to talk about what you have read with your child.

2. Reading with or to your child every day

Spending 10 minutes a day reading to your child helps them develop social and emotional skills and become confident, happy learners. Little and often is more effective than a half an hour splurge.

3. Read from technology TOGETHER

Evidence has shown that reading from a tablet, laptop, mobile phone etc can be beneficial in engaging children in reading (particularly boys) BUT they need to do it alongside an adult. Using a device to find out information about something in their interest, to watch videos with the subtitles on or to read ebooks is effective when it is linked to other things your child is learning, and when it is balanced with other learning activities.

4. Have a family bookshelf

Keep all your books together and allow your child to organise the books in their own way, e.g. books from most favourite to least favourite, to group them based on author or what they are about. Keeping books together allows children to see that books and reading are important.

5. Ask and answer questions about what you are reading about

Reading words is important but talking about what they are reading and the pictures helps them look for meaning from what is on the page. Here are some questions to ask when reading together.

- What do you see on this page?
- How do you think the characters feel?
- What do you think is going to happen next?
- When you have finished, talk about how your child feels about the book:
- What did they like?
- What didn't they like?
- What can they remember about what happened?
- Who was their favourite character? Why?
- Link the story to their own experiences.
